Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 27 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Warm, dry and sunny today. Cloudy and damp on Friday.

Today:
A warm and sunny day after any early fog has cleared. Sunshine turning hazy through the afternoon as high cloud moves in from the west and patchy fair-weather cloud develops in eastern areas. Warmest in the east. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying dry during the evening as cloud continues to move in. Outbreaks of rain are likely in western areas overnight and could possibly spread further inland. Milder than Wednesday night. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Friday:
Outbreaks of rain continue through Friday, most likely in the west but their extent remains uncertain. Some dry periods are likely too but cloudy conditions hampering temperatures somewhat. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Turning brighter on Saturday, with some showers. Plenty of sunshine and the odd shower on Sunday. Bank Holiday Monday looks to be dry with sunny spells. Warmer than of late.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.